Dear Members,

We are pleased to share an important update about the future of your credit union. Effective October 1, 2026, Greater Nevada Credit Union merged with America First Credit Union. This merger has been approved by each credit union's board of directors, as well as the National Credit Union Administration and the Nevada Financial Institutions Division.

For now, there is nothing you need to do. You can continue banking exactly as you do today.

After careful exploration, we found that the cultures, values, and member-first approach of both credit unions are an excellent match. Greater Nevada's legacy of serving those who serve their community is a natural fit with America First Credit Union's longstanding service to federal employees and members of the military. Bringing our two credit unions together allows us to continue that shared legacy while serving even more members across Nevada.

You will continue to receive the same great service you've come to expect from Greater Nevada, along with many new benefits from America First, including expanded products and services, enhanced digital capabilities, and access to a larger branch and ATM network. America First has been deeply committed to helping members develop and maintain financial well-being since 1939.

You should continue to use your Greater Nevada checks, debit and credit cards, ATM locations, local branch locations that you currently use and online/mobile banking. You may also contact your credit union by using existing Greater Nevada's telephone numbers, email addresses or the website. Your Greater Nevada branch locations will remain open with the same hours and the same friendly employees you know and trust.

For additional questions regarding the merger, please go to www.gncu.org/afcu. This will be the best source for updates specific to Greater Nevada members. Over time, we will share more about the expanded products, services, and benefits that will become available to you through America First.

We welcome you to the America First family and appreciate the opportunity to serve your financial needs for years to come.

Sincerely,
